

secure times. About guarantee—what we can get depends on our own efforts and one must work at one's own risk. But after some time one begins to see:

'I got this that I did not have before' and 'I got that that I did not have before.' So little by little one can be more sure.

Mr. A: I suppose also you can give no guarantee as to whether people will suffer from some delusion as regards personal experience? One may take illusion for fact?

Mr. Ouspensky: Yes, very easy, but if one remembers all that one was told, one learns to discriminate.
